

Dear Guests,

Thank you for confirming your booking of our chalet in Vallandry.

Attached you will find a map of the Village, showing how to get to the chalet - very easy as it is a "one street village". Unless the snow is really deep, you can get your car down to the front of the Dahu; loading in and out is very simple from there. Then park just above.

Our PVR Reception is clearly marked on the map below – you may wish to drive up to it upon arrival. It is helpful if you can let them know in advance (contact details below) approximately the time you intend to arrive; this should ideally be late afternoon, but if you arrive early you can leave your baggage in reception until the chalet is ready for you (normally 17:00 but can often be earlier due to the Sunday changeover). They will sort out chalet keys, bread and croissants' delivery if you want it, tourist tax (1.40 euros per person over the age of 18 per night if you have not booked with HomeAway, who will already have charged you), and the refundable security payment (card swipe). If you have ordered your lift passes via them, then they will be ready for you to pick up at the reception (at least 2 weeks before your arrival). You will then be directed to the chalet and of course the reception team are there to answer any queries you have as they arise.

Important – If you plan to arrive later than 20:00

you must telephone PVR reception on +33 (0) 479 09 89 51 or +33 (0) 750 66 52 81 to make arrangements – and don't worry as there is a key safe on the chalet, they will give you the code and you can sort out all the other details the following day. PVR can also pre-book a restaurant for you if you don't want to cook on the first evening, which is useful in the busy weeks and you don't speak French.

We ask you to vacate the chalet before 10am .

You will also need to arrange for PVR to inspect the chalet before you leave (Fri day evening) in order to guarantee a full refund of your security payment - don't forget!

Travel

If you are driving you should allow 10 hours travel to/from Calais and about 260 euros each way for tolls, plus the fuel of course. We always take the evening ferry and stay in the Hotel Bal in Tournhem just off the motorway 20 minutes outside of Calais. Its very peaceful, cheap (about 55 Euros – its on Booking.com) and dog friendly. The rooms are good, peaceful and with WIFI. If you ring them to warn them that you will be late, they will tell you your room number and leave the key in the room with the WIFI code.

Transfers

If you are flying you are probably best off renting a car for a week as airport transfer charges and trains are quite expensive.

See the following websites:

- Tourist Office Transport
- Whiterides transfers
- Mountainrescue transfers

The snow train does stop at Landry in the ski season. If you fly to Chambéry and want to take the train you will need to take a taxi from the airport to the train station – there is no local bus (captive audience!). I have a more detailed sheet if you are coming from Chambéry as it's by far the nearest and easiest option but gets booked up quickly.

Visit the Peisey-Vallandry website for piste maps and weather forecasts etc; it's well worth looking at the webcams which are updated several times a day. There's also one of the snow park with lots of bumps and jumps.

Also, if you need ski and boot hire Sport 2000 Paradiski offer a % discount on their website <<http://www.ski-hire.sport2000.fr/>>. Simply book on-line (you will pay at the end of your hire).

Mobile phone signals are strong all over the mountains and there is wireless internet in the chalet. UK Freesat TV and Radio is available in the chalet along with a DVD, your laptop will plug in directly (VGA or HDMI) as the screen is a standard computer monitor.

We do hope you enjoy your stay in our chalet - please feel free to send us any feedback you have so that we can fix problems as they arise and improve our service for next season. We also invite you to fill in the Visitors' Book, leaving any top tips that you would like to pass on. If you have never tried it you should consider the Alps in the summer, so beautiful! There's so much to do - our chalet is available all year round!

If you want to look on Google Earth, (if you have it installed on your computer), just save the .kmz file and then double-click on it (the images are in the Summer!).
