Aime is very pretty (opposite direction on the main road from Bourg – you will have gone on the bypass on the way to Vallandry) and there is a shallow lake for swimming on the way there that is very warm (base de loisirs) and there is a Creperie. NB No dogs around the lake itself.

Out of Season, the nearest shop is in the next village down Peisy, which is open in the mornings only. It is also a very beautiful, typical Savoyard village and well worth taking your camera.

But don't forget the peace and quiet of Vallandry - read that book on the terrace, sip your wine and watch the eagles soar overhead!
Then get on your walking boots, jump on your bike, go for a run !
